Alice James New Telegram Delivery Girl

Delivery service of telegrams has been taken over in Marin City by Miss Alice James, who began her new job here last Monday. Already the young woman has chalked up a 100-per-cent record in telegram delivery.

Establishing a regular schedule of two deliveries per day, Miss James also makes special trips for emergency messages. A telephone will be established at the James home, House 357, this Saturday. Until then, if the telegram recipient is not at home, he is requested to come to the house and pick it up.

After the phone is installed, residents may go to their nearest phone booth and get the message over the wire, if they were not at home to receive it when Miss James called.

Office hours are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., but the James family is often at home after those hours, and people who find a slip on their doorknob, telling them a message has come in, may often get the telegram after office hours.

For emergency messages, of deaths or short notice meetings, repeated trips will be made by Miss James to the addressee's home.

With a file of all heads of families in Marin City, Miss James first consults this index to locate the house number—provided it is not given on the envelope. If residents can not be located that way, and the envelope bears a post office number, it is then to the party.

Families who have relatives or friends living with them and whose names are not registered with the housing authority, are urged to declare them immediately. These files can then be consulted for delivery of messages addressed to one other than head of the household.

The new local address of the Western Union Telegraph Co. is House 357, across from the dry cleaners in the commercial area.

Car Pool at USO Lines up More Rides

With a number of drivers and riders matched up in the "car pool" at Marin City's USO Traveler's Aid Office, more people come in daily seeking transportation to their jobs.

One of the latest registrants is Preston Vaughans, B1-531, who wants to ride to Hunter's Point on the day schedule. Vaughans will buy a car for the trip, if he can be assured of getting enough riders for a gasoline allotment.

C. G. Epperson, House 778, is looking for riders as he drives to 100 Harrison St., San Francisco, daily. He leaves Marin City at 7 a.m.

Mrs. Gruver at House 422 is a driver who leaves Marin City at 3 p.m. daily for San Francisco and returns at midnight. She is looking for a woman passenger, and charges 45 cents round trip.

Workers interested in these transportation opportunities should check with the individual or the USO office behind the commercial area. Others interested in becoming or seeking a passenger should register with the office, so that car loads will be assured to jobs at Hamilton Field, Hunter's Point or San Francisco.

The Answer Is Still 'No' on Rest Rooms

In a letter addressed to Judge Guy A. Ciocca, executive director of this housing authority, the Improvement Committee of the Marin City Council has stated in clear terms its demand for comfort stations in the commercial area of this town. The entire letter reads: "At the last meeting of the Marin City Council, the question of public toilets in Marin City was very thoroughly discussed. As a result of this discussion, Council feels strongly that;

"1. The absence of public toilets in the commercial area of Marin City is a disgrace to our community, and constitutes a menace to both health and decency.

"2. That the toilets in the Community building and at the playground are not an answer, being too far away and not available at all hours.

"3. That the responsibility for providing adequate toilets lies directly with the Housing Authority and not with either the tenants or the businesses in the commercial area.

"We feel that the objection of management, that public toilets should be abused unless used, is true, but that the answer is that proper supervision can be and should be provided.

"The Improvement Committee of the Marin City Council has considered possible locations and methods of supervision, and would be very glad to consult with management at any time, in order to work out an acceptable arrangement."

However, according to an advance report on Judge Ciocca's reply, the answer is still "No." As stated by Merritt Webster, assistant executive director here, the housing authority does not feel that establishment of more rest room facilities here is within its jurisdiction. If further negotiations be-

Ten Openings In the Local Nursery Unit

Openings for 10 pre-school children in the nursery at the extended day care program of Marin City were announced this week by Mrs. Rose Peterson, director.

Eligible for enrollment are all children between the ages of two years and four years and nine months, whose parents are both working.

The fees are set at $4.50, which includes a full day of supervised care, morning and afternoon snacks, a well-balanced hot meal at noon, and extra vitamin rations. The children are under the care of trained nursery personnel and the full-time services of a registered nurse.

Parents interested in registering their youngsters should see Mrs. Peterson at the Community House during the day.

At the present time, the Child Care Center is enrolled to capacity, and cannot accept new youngsters of school age.

Between council and the housing authority fail to produce results, council voted at its last meeting to carry the matter to the Marin County Housing Commission and public health authorities.

With 1296 jobs registered with the San Rafael United States Employment Office and West Coast shipyards launched upon a long program of repairing battle-damaged vessels, Marin citizens need not worry about a job shortage for some time to come, according to Wilfred Gruit, USES representative here. Brown Bomber Band to Play Here Sunday

The Brown Bomber band will play in Marin City next Sunday night, July 22, starting at 9 p.m. for a dance sponsored by the Marin City Giants baseball team. This is the band that made the Brown Bomber night spot in San Francisco a famous institution on the coast. It is available for this weekend because a visiting orchestra is playing a guest appearance on their home grounds.

Because the Giants were disappointed recently when the orchestra they engaged failed to show up, a contract with the musicians' union has been signed—assuring the appearance of the famous musical group here Sunday.

Admission will be $1, plus tax. The public is invited.

Sermon Topic On Current World Problems Sunday

Rev. John Duffy, pastor of the Marin City Community Church, will preach at the 11 o'clock service, Sunday morning, on "The Foreign Policy of God." This will be a sermon on the Book of Amos, with special application to present-day international relations.

The Sunday School, under the leadership of outstanding teachers, presents a program of interest to all young people at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

Sunday School and church services are held at the Community Center.

Military Honors Awarded Negro Soldier Sgt. Yarbrough Displays Devotion to Duty

Additional evidence disproving the slur against Negro troops which was enunciated recently by Senators Theodore Bilbo and James O. Eastland, both Mississippians, was received in Marin City this week by Mrs. Wincie Yarbrough whose husband, Sergeant James Yarbrough, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal, the Purple Heart, and two Distinguished Service Crosses.

The senators' statements charging that Negro troops have proved an "utter and abysmal failure" was given the lie by Generals Eisenhower and MacArthur in public statements praising the troop's actions under fire in Europe and the Pacific.

The citation, accompanying award of the Bronze Star Medal to Sgt. Yarbrough, reads:

"Technician Fourth Grade James Yarbrough, Ordnance Department, United States Army, Ordnance Ammunition Company, For heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States in France. On the night of August —, 1944, Technician Fourth Grade James Yarbrough was on duty in the magazine area of an ammunition depot when it was bombed by enemy aircraft. Yarbrough, with utter disregard for his own safety, aided in evacuating a wounded soldier from the blazing ammunition depot to a first aid station, and doing so distinguished himself above and beyond the call of duty."

The citation was signed by First Lieut. John H. Wilson of the Third Army.

Another glowing report of her husband's conduct was received by Mrs. Yarbrough from her husband's commanding officer, Capt. Axel W. Henri, who says:

"Now that the war in Europe has ended, I would like the privilege of writing to you about your husband, Sergeant James Yarbrough.

"Sergeant Yarbrough has been a member of this organization for many months and during that time has established an excellent and impressive Army record. His devotion to whatever task he has been given has been of the highest quality; his leadership has been exceptional in steadfastness and foresight.

"During the campaign in Normandy an ammunition dump which we controlled was blown up by the enemy. Your husband in the face of actual death saw fit to carry on with his duty and did so with such determination that he was wounded and received one of the most meaningful of honors that the Army can bestow—the Purple Heart.

"Despite these wounds Sergeant Yarbrough carried on with his duties in evacuating and tending his comrades and showed such a type of courage as to cause the commanding general of the Third Army to award him the Bronze Star Medal.

"Allow us, the comrades of your husband, to share the pride that you must feel in having a husband of such outstanding courage and character."

Sgt. Yarbrough, who was inducted from Detroit, Michigan, in August of 1941, has been in six major battles. His wife is making her home in Marin City for the duration at the residence of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Lester, A65-56.

area are the two Navy repair yards at Mare Island and Hunter's Point where they is a constant call for journeymen in nearly all crafts and for helpers. The helper needs include blacksmith, boilermaker, electrician, machinist, pipefitter, rigger, sheetmetal, shipfitter and woodworker. Laborers are also being recruited.

Workers who qualify with two years shipyard experience are accepted as journeymen in the crafts of electrician, joiner, machinist, shipwright (male and female), shipwright (with own tools), and sheetmetal work. Welders, both men and women, are given the journeyman rating if they have at least six months shipyard experience and can pass a stiff civil service examination in their craft.

Office workers at the Navy Yard are also being hired, both as clerks and typists. Clerk's salaries average $157 after passing a qualifying test, and typists average $145, if a civil service test is passed. There is also a limited demand for engineers and draftsmen.

Small boat-building yards in the Sausalito area are asking for highly skilled carpenters, with good finishing experience.

Railroads are asking for all types of workers. Operating out of San Rafael, the lines are seeking skilled firemen and brakemen, and a few apprentices, under 40 years of age, to learn the trade. Also wanted are boilermakers and experienced car repairmen, electrician and carpenter helpers.

Shipyards in this area can use boilermakers, acetylene burners, chippers, coppersmiths, electricians, flangers, and a few helpers in various crafts. No women are being hired here.

Bus drivers is a steady demand by the bus company serving our area.

Auto mechanics are in constant demand by small and large companies. One particularly interesting proposition is being offered to a few honorably discharged veterans, under 25 years of age. Auto mechanics apprenticeships are available to five veterans to serve in small shops in San Rafael which offer post-war careers. The plan is limited to veterans who can secure a federal subsidy to carry them over the apprenticeship period.

Domestics is a classification always open for women in Marin.

Stenographers can always be placed, either in Marin County or in San Francisco.

Clearances from the worker's last employer plus a clearance from the San Rafael or other USES office is necessary before a worker may secure a new job.

Disease Report

The prevalent disease report, released July 14 by the Marin County Health Department, reveals there were 34 new cases of measles during the past week. Other health statistics show: chickenpox, 6; diphtheria, 1; food poisoning, 4; influenza, 4; German measles, 1; gonorrhoea, 4; mumps, 3; poliomyelitis, 4; scarlet fever, 1; syphilis, 1; whooping cough, 1, and typhoid fever, 1.

Boy Scouts To Lead City Clean up Drive

An all-out clean-up period in Marin City has been declared for the end of July, with the Marin City Boy Scout troop elected to the job of leading the venture under guidance of Arthur Hart, scoutmaster, and Art Walenta, assistant. The Recreation Department will also play a large part in the day's organization.

The plans were formulated at a meeting of the Improvement committee Tuesday night. Present were Mrs. Leo Wright, Mrs. Earl James, Mrs. William Shimmin, Recreation Leader Marjorie Thompson, Ethel Johnson, Mrs. John Keller, Fire Chief Rolf Bremer, Arthur Walenta, Rev. John Duffy, W. L. Parker and Mrs. G. W. Moorhead.

The Fire Department will extend cooperation by burning off numbers of dry areas, including the paper clutter, before the drive opens. The trash will be deposited in trash bins after collection by Boy Scouts.

A party given by the Improvement Committee will be one reward for the youngsters who participate in the drive. Funds will be furnished for the affair by Marin City Council.

The boys will be asked to gather up stray paper, while the help of community adults will be solicited together and dispose of the heavy lumber and pieces of broken glass which litter streets and yards.

Additional awards for boys who cooperate in the drive will be winning of points for community service badges by the Boy Scouts and points toward merit badges for a new award system established by the Recreation Department.

Officials Seeking Building for USO Service Club Here

In an effort to locate a building for the Marin City USO Service Club, John Clahan, San Rafael and Marin City director, conducted two officials from his agency on a tour of this town and the surrounding area last week.

Clahan reports there are several possible sites open but no decision has yet been made.

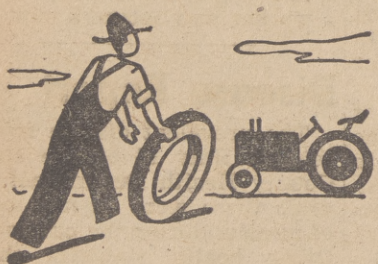

Officials were Joseph Rovi-cheaux, USO representative of the National Catholic Community Service; and J. Levi, racial relations director of the National Catholic Community Service.

Gets Nightmare Ruling by OPA

For sales during the past year of a cigarette called the "Red Crown", Sidney Greenfield and Robert Winther, copartners in the Dream Castle Tobacco Company, 2100 Mission Street, today made an over-ceiling damage settlement with the San Francisco District Office of Price Administration in the sum of $21,814.80.

For the past year the Dream Castle Company have been selling the "Red Crown" cigarette at a price to retail for 20 cents per pack. The OPA decided that the brand had been wrongly priced and should have been 15 cents.

USED FAT IS FARMHAND

Good farm wives help provide sturdy tractor tires everytime they save a drop of used cooking fat. Synthetic rubber, fungicides, soap, and lubricants all require used cooking fat in their preparation.

Serviceman's Wife Loses Purse at Greyhound Depot

Loss of all the money she had until her husband's allotment check arrives in August, was reported yesterday by Mrs. Ruth Newman of House 559, Marin City. The young serviceman's wife left her change purse in the telephone booth at the Greyhound bus depot, and when she returned for it a short time later, it had been taken.

The total contents of the purse were $24. If the one who found it will return it to Mrs. Newman, he will receive her heartfelt thanks. If someone wishes to return it anonymously, they may leave it at the USO Travelers' Aid Cottage.

Unless the money is returned, Mrs. Newman will find herself in desperate straits, as the lost funds had been budgeted to provide household expenses for herself and 3-year-old son.

Chief Bodeen Here on Leave From Pacific

Determined to be unheroic about his 19 months in the South Pacific, John Bodeen, navy chief commissary steward, declares his biggest battle was with the mosquitoes which infest many of the so-called island paradises.

Assigned to the job of feeding men in the Navy Air Force, Bodeen has followed squadrons all over the Solomons, and arrived in Marin City last Friday after finishing a tour of duty at New Caledonia.

He was greeted by his jubilant young wife, Francis Bodeen, Medical Center nurse, and their 3-year-old daughter, Kathie. As he has not seen the youngster since she was a small baby, one of Bodeen's most important home assignments is getting acquainted with his daughter.

On several bases, Bodeen enjoyed a few vacation comforts along with the tropical rains and navy regulations. He reports some fine aquaplaning, beaches and tennis courts tucked away in some of the out-of-the-way places.

After a 30-day leave to be spent in and around Marin City, Bodeen will report back to duty at Hollister, Calif.

He was accompanied here by another chief commissary steward, George Jones, who left yesterday for Indiana where he will join his wife.

N.D.G.W. Will Stage Annual October Fiesta

Marinita Parlor 198, Native Daughters of the Golden West, is preparing for its annual Fiesta, October 11 to 14, 1945.

As is customary, a group of young ladies of the county will vie for the honor of being Senorita for the occasion, and names have already been entered for those girls who will compete.

Rita's Dress Shop at 1336 Fourth Street is the place where interested ladies may register for Senorita competition, and to date the following have signified their intention of making the race:

Yvonne Hilliker, Santa Venetia; Beatrice Guerin, Dorothy Simon, Sara Hildebrandt, and Dee Archibald, San Rafael; Lois Bauer, San Quentin; Mary Joe Crosby, Sausalito; Eleanor Marstrip, Novato; Dorothy Maier, San Anselmo; Jacqueline Rice, Larkspur; Diane Darling, San Anselmo; Pat Mathews, Ross; Elaine Borkheim, Woodacre; Pat McCabe, Fairfax; Kathryn Taylor, San Rafael; Jacqueline Wilke, Marin City.

The authorization of 1,244 miles of new routes to the airline networks during the first five months of this year brings the total number of miles scheduled to 64,181.

Camp Taylor Safe Place Says Johnson

In a statement made recently, Dr. Irving D. Johnson, Marin County Health Officer, urged parents to take advantage of the opportunity offered their children for supervised play at Camp Taylor where, he pointed out, they would benefit more from the supervised activities than if allowed to play unattended.

"There is no danger from attending this camp," said Dr. Johnson, "since children from sick communities are not mixed with those from unaffected areas. A nurse from the health department will be in daily attendance in addition to Messrs. Lewis and Sisk and Mrs. Krotser, who are in attendance at all times. The recreation supervisor from the individual community is also present on each camp day."

Schedule of school buses and communities served has been revised in order to make the fullest possible use of all facilities. With the program concentrated into a four-day week the new schedule is as follows:

Monday: Sausalito, Woodacre, Forest Knolls, leaving Sausalito at 8:30 a.m.; Wednesday: Alto at 8:40, Mill Valley Park school 8:50 and Greyhound depot 9:05; Thursday: Marin City 8:30; Friday: Tiburon, Larkspur-Corte Madera 8:45, Kentfield, 8:55, San Anselmo Main School 9:05, Red Hill school 9:15, Fairfax 9:25. Community supervisors will accompany the children in the buses.

Grass Fires Keep M.C. Dept. Busy

The Marin City Fire Department made its one-hundredth run of the year this week when it answered an alarm for a county grass fire.

The fires this week included two grass fires at Waldo grade, started by tossing lighted cigarettes from cars, grass fires at the Reed ranch and California Point, one at Meadowsweet Dairy which burned off two and a half acres, and an over-heated hot water heater at House 715.

USO to Entertain Air Force Boys

Marin City USO junior hostesses will entertain a squadron from the Fourth Air Force of ATC at Hamilton Field in a dance at the Marin City Community House this Saturday night. The ATC band will provide music for the function.

Marin Men Ask Support In Picketing

Those members of the Marine Cooks' and Stewards' Association, now picketing the War Shipping Administration in San Francisco, who make their homes in Marin County, have asked the Marin Citizen to publish some of the reasons for their actions.

Some of the abuses which the Association insist be corrected are:

An average weekly wage of $25 a week, or 34½ cents per hour.

A cut of bonus wages, heretofore allowed those members on duty in hazardous war zones.

The cooks and stewards are asking for: 55c an hour basic wage.

In summing up, the organization says: "We want a decent living wage. We want only the wage level set by the War Labor Board as minimum wages for American workers—and that's 55 cents an hour."

"The Maritime War Emergency Board, through the War Shipping Administration, has ordered our bonus cut more than 50 per cent, before any improvement in our wages has ever been considered."

"Unless the War Labor Board speedily grants our request for the minimum wage of 55 cents an hour, some men will have to leave the sea at this crucial time, just so their families can eat; it means a loss of personnel to the war effort at this critical time."

Masonic Visitor

Weslie Heidt, information director of the Masonic Home at Decoto, Calif., and uncle of Horace Heidt, orchestra leader and director of Musical Knights, is now visiting friends, Mr. and Mrs. Loretto P. Thompson, at A5-34, Marin City.

Mrs. Lilas Troutman, former Marin City teacher, is leaving here in August for Hawaii where she will instruct in one of the island schools.

Injured Veteran Refuses Treatment For Feet Injury

In falling in front of a moving Greyhound bus at the Marin City station, Cecil Scott of Sausalito is suspected of sustaining possible injuries to both feet. The accident occurred Saturday night when Scott, a discharged veteran, was changing buses.

Refusing emergency treatment at the Marin City Medical Center, he was taken to his home without a doctor's care. Dr. Nathan Mann, on duty at the time, attempted to persuade the young man to go to the Army Veteran's Hospital for an X-ray, but he consistently refused treatment of any type.

The case was reported to the county sheriff's office by Deputy Louis J. Lunci of the Marin City staff.

Full Employment Private Property Controlled For Interests of Community

By Langdon Post, Regional Director of FPFA.

The sacred right of private property is an example of this sort of thinking. So deeply has it been imbedded in our laws that we have accepted it as a fundamental of democracy. It is actually no such thing. It is merely the most important part of the machinery, the balance wheel, if you like, fashioned to make democracy work, the surest way of maintaining law and order and of creating a sense of responsibility; the simplest method of giving the people a stake in the nation and a sense of security, through the cementing of that stake into the law of the land.

As a matter of fact, this sacred right of private property, written into our Constitution and clamped firmly into our common law, has come into conflict with our fundamentals more often than any other instruments; for it has many times operated in open defiance of the Declaration of Independence, freedom of speech, freedom of action, and the sovereignty of the individual.

It has been the source of the grossest inequalities and the cause of the most widespread misery. Yet it was the most important cog in the beginning and remains so today. We have assumed the right to modify and control it over and over again. Zoning ordinances, land use restrictions, laws governing heights and densities, roads, streets, fire and health—all of these indicate our intention to make the ownership of private property subordinate to the interests of the community. There are those who would make this a part of our democracy, part of and inseparable from it. In its name they have attempted, and often succeeded, in establishing monopolies and creating the principle of absentee ownership. They have moved it from land to pieces of paper and would try to make us believe that this was the ultimate goal of our democracy.

I believe that it is one of our most important instruments—I believe it can go far toward establishing a sense of responsibility and a stake in our nation. But its primary function has been so distorted, its basic reasons for existence so exploited, the interpretation of its rights so elastic, the speculation in its turnover so lucrative, that it has lost its original purpose, as Jefferson saw it, and has become, in many instances, an instrument working against the very purposes for which it was created. We must bring it back to that purpose, for I believe it is very important as an instrument toward our goal.

Free enterprise. Here is an instrument that has been tossed around with greater abandon than almost any of the others. It is less tangible than the ownership of property and lends itself even more readily to the wiles of the demagogue.

There are times when we are almost more inclined to treat this as an objective to a greater degree even than private property. It has all the allurements that the word "free" implies. Freedom of opportunity, freedom of choice, freedom from restrictions, freedom to compete with the other guy on an equal basis and beat him because you are smarter. It engenders the most important of all human characteristics, a love of competition, and setting aside for the moment greed and ambition, it constitutes a challenge of the highest order, a challenge which, if conquered, represents accomplishment.

It must be remembered that our Constitution was drawn up under the shadow of Adam Smith and interpreted under the influence of John Stuart Mills, Ricardo, McCauley, and others of the laissez faire school. They had no conception of what technocracy could accomplish, although they did warn against human greed.

They expect that supply and demand would keep up with each other and that the spirit of competition, unfettered, would continue to produce better quality in greater quantity at less cost. And they were right—as long as enterprise remained free and the cost of defeat rested upon the competitor himself and did not tend to pull the whole economic system down with it.

Free enterprise has often been defined in terms of a free society, one dependent upon the other for its existence. This is a wholly false assumption, disproved many times over in the past thirty years. There are large and important fields of our economic life which for many years now have not been operating under the benefits of free enterprise.

The three most important phases of our modern existence—transportation, communications, and the distribution of electric energy—have long since been taken out of the sphere of free enterprise. These instruments were found to be so important to the operation of our society, indeed, they might be defined as the arteries of modern life, that we were unwilling to submit them to the vagaries of a free enterprise economy.

There are others which, although not as yet officially recognized as divorced from the free enterprise system, nevertheless in reality enjoy all the freedom from hazards of the competitive system. Generally speaking, they are represented by our natural resources and our basic industries and they form the foundation upon which our economic system rests. Unless we can return them to the cleansing fires of the free enterprise, or competitive system, and I think it is folly to suppose we can, we should recognize them for what they are and place them in the same category as those activities already mentioned that have been taken out of the free enterprise economy.

They are supposed to work for us, not we for them. They are the instruments which we have forged so that under our free society we might enjoy the full benefits of an expanding production. They are nothing more than a piece of machinery and, like any machinery, are subject to obsolescence and scrapping.

Free enterprise is not a sacred cow—it is not untouchable, it is not timeless, as is our democracy. It has been an exceedingly useful instrument for the attainment of our goals in the past and will continue to be so in the future. There are still vast areas in our economy where it can operate to the benefit of our whole society and where this is true it should be protected. But let us not, in the name of some false god, permit this nation once again to flounder around in the depths of depression because we have mistaken an instrument for an objective. Let us not permit a system which has worked so well for us destroy us because of our unwillingness to recognize that certain parts of it are not operating as they are supposed to. Cut it down to its real size and its true proportions, give it its real position in our society, dismiss it as an objective in itself, let it operate where it can honestly operate, and we will neither fear it nor worship it.

(Ed. Note: This is the third installment of a speech delivered by Langdon Post at the recent conference on Social Welfare held at Sunny Hills Orphanage in Marin County).

Marin Scouts Make Merry at Camp Worsley

Eighty-seven Boy Scouts and leaders are today well into their second session at Camp Worsley, on Lake Kilbourn in Nevada County. Camp Director Harris Ricksecker, Scout executive for the Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America, states that a full program of scouting activities has already started for those encamped for the next two weeks.

Summer camp in the high Sierras started for the boys at dinner last Sunday evening, followed by an impressive fire-lighting ceremony, traditional with Marin Boy Scouts in camp for the first time. Twice during the week the Scouts will run their own campfire, under the direction of the provisional troop Scoutmasters, with songs and skits chosen by themselves.

Evening campfire programs consist of scouting songs and stories of early-day pioneers, interspersed with skits and plays made up by the campers. Songs are also sung after meals with the assistance of John Waddell at the piano. Talks on the Donner party and stories of high adventure gold rush days also mark the program. Moving pictures of scouting information of trees, swimming, and forestry are also a part of the weekly program.

This week the program will feature instruction in camp cookery, fire fighting methods, nature work and personal first aid. Nature Director Harold Kleitforth states that many birds' nests have been found, and that more than 30 Scouts passed their nature requirements for second and first class badge. Last session featured a treasure hunt and a nature hunt, both conducted by Director Kleitforth, with the winners getting extra desserts.

Clothiers Prepare For G.I. Demands

In preparation for the enormous job of dressing returning G.I.s in the action-type of clothing they have learned to demand, California mancrafts and retail merchants held a meeting in San Francisco last Thursday. In attendance from San Rafael was C. Marcus of Albert's, Inc.

Chief point stressed in the cooperative luncheon meeting was the need for maintaining the quality and value which has been characteristic of California men's apparel for the past several years. Ted Kahan, publisher of Boys Outfitter, emphasized the fact that the post-war period would doubtless find a return to extreme price-consciousness as a natural evolution of the return to the law of supply and demand.

Your Tires Are Worth Saving

There is no more reason for throwing away a good tire casing just because the tread is worn smooth than for discarding a pair of shoes because the rubber heels are worn down.

The tread of a tire, like the rubber heel of a shoe, is the least expensive part. Now, by the Patented Hawkinson Process, we are able to replace tire treads just as successfully as the cobbler replaces rubber heels.

Any well made tire that is worn smooth and has good sidewalls and beads more than justifies a new running surface. We can determine this by careful inspection.

Summer Harvesting Camps Available for Girls, Women

This summer the boys who wish to go harvesting are out of luck. However, camp facilities are available for girls and women, states Mrs. E. Shotwell Wood, a camp councillor. The Victory Harvest Camp is already under way. Girls from Tamalpais High School are eligible to attend, providing they are over 13 years of age. Enrollment for the next camp period is already filled out, but sometime around the middle of August, there will probably be room for more girls, says Mrs. Wood.

The girls camp in a redwood grove near Sebastopol, 45 miles north of Marin City. There are two types of work—cutting pears and picking apples. It's real work—the girls are on the job seven to eight hours daily, six days a week. However, on Saturday nights there is either a party or a hay wagon ride to the Sebastopol movie house, and on Sundays the girls are taken up to the Russian River for a holiday and relaxation.

To date, the Marin City girls who have attended this camp are Eleanor Campbell, Dorla Faubel, Alexia Hudson and Carol Husel.

For further information on the Tamalpais Victory Camp, phone Tamalpais High. Willard Van Dyke, principal, has given the camp his enthusiastic support, states Mrs. Wood.

Prevailing wages are paid at all camps as set by the California War Food Wage Board. The prices vary from area to area, but information as to wage rates for a given crop in a given area may be obtained through the Farm Labor Bureau, Exbrook 5586.

Sebastopol Camp For Women

In Sebastopol there is another harvest camp for women, 18 years of age or older. Girls between 16 and 18 are eligible if accompanied by an adult. The camp site is the J. B. Orr ranch which provides large tents with wooden floors. This camp, as the others mentioned later, are under the partial auspices of the Farm Labor Bureau.

The Sebastopol camp will be running all summer, and women can make arrangements to live at the camp and go out from there to pick berries. The Greyhound bus is available daily for transportation to Sebastopol. Only workers planning to remain a week or more are desired in the camp. Board and room costs $1.50 per day, for this camp and those cited below. Linens and blankets must be provided by the individual workers.

Geyserville Camp

At Geyserville, 65 miles north of Marin City, there is a supervised camp for girls with four councillors, two managers, and a camp nurse and a doctor on call. The living quarters are in the local high school. Girls 15 to 18 years of age are eligible. They will pick pears from about 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. every day except Sunday. The wage rate here as elsewhere is the regular adult scale.

For recreation the girls can go swimming in the Russian river and a regular program of activities is provided. The camp opens about August 5 and closes for most of the girls on September 2, although there will be a few who will stay on for an additional week or two. The expense of transportation to and from camp will be borne by the camp management providing the girl remains the entire period.

Ukiah Camp

This is another supervised camp for girls from 15 to 18 years of age. Operating dates are from July 26 to September 8. Living quarters are provided in the local high school. Work entails cutting pears in a modern cutting shed eight hours a day, six days a week. Pay is $1.50 per day with board and

Former Yard Worker to Wed Sunday

Gladys W. McNerney will be married to Elmer L. Sample in a simple ceremony at a San Rafael parsonage this Sunday. Mrs. McNerney has been making her home in Marin City for the past several months at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Hobson, House 134. She is a former warehouse office worker at Marinship.

The benedict, whose home is Des Moines, Ia., is in the Bay Area after an extensive trip through the Mid West as a painting estimator for a large company there.

The couple plan to settle in this vicinity permanently as soon as they can locate a house.

The only attendants at the wedding will be Mrs. McNerney's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith, of Napa.

This will be the second marriage for Mrs. McNerney and Sample.

Wedding Anniversary At Teener Club

Marge Hedden Shares Honors With Garson

Miss Margaret Hedden, the prettiest USO-Traveler's Aid social worker in the Bay Area and a member of the Marin City staff, was up in the air this week about two navy men just in from a tour of duty in the Pacific. Taking a vacation to cope with the problem, she spent at least part of her time in an airplane.

In company with 1st Lieut. Bob Fitzhenry and Ensign Bill Forde of San Anselmo, Miss Hedden rented a plane at a field near Palo Alto and tried her hand at flying. Although she admits to a previous air trip, this was the first time she took over the controls. Her debut was short, however, as she quickly called for assistance from the Navy Air Corps men. In addition to being the first girl who flew an airplane with no instruction, Miss Hedden is also the only girl whose picture is lined up with one of Greer Garson aboard a navy vessel. As Ensign Forde's roommate is the husband of the famous screen star, the photos of Garson and Hedden vie for position on the dresser shared by the two navy officers.

Mrs. John Hornsby, sister of Mrs. Walter Del Tredici, arrived here last week from Honolulu, accompanied by her two daughters.

Miss Dorothy Brewster of Watsonville was a visitor at the home of the Dale Dinsmores this week.

Information on these camps was released by the Farm Labor Bureau. For additional information, girls or their parents may see Miss Ethel Johnson in Project Services Bld., 402, behind the Community House.

Helen Traubel Sings Way Into Music Lovers' Hearts

Helen Traubel, dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association and featured artist at Sunday's concert at Forest Meadows, Dominican College, sang before a capacity crowd in the open-air mecca of Bay area music lovers. This was the second of the series in the 1945 program sponsored by the Marin Music Chest.

This American-trained singer captivated her audience with her magnificent voice in numbers ranging from the classics to negro spirituals. She graciously responded for several encore numbers as the enthusiastic audience pleaded for more songs. In fact the crowd lingered after Traubel had sung her final number, plus an encore, hoping to hear more of her music.

The program presented a diversified choice of selections from Beethoven, Gluck, Schubert, Strauss, and Wagner, plus a liberal sprinkling of negro folk songs, and others by American composed numbers.

Accompanying her on the piano was Theodore Paxson, who, besides doing a wonderful job in cooperation with the singer, appeared in three piano renditions of some of Chopin's best music. Paxson, too, responded graciously to repeat calls from the audience, and proved himself to be an artist in his own right.

Over 2000 persons attended Sunday's concert, and standing room only was the lot of latecomers. A perfect day, coupled with a smoothly-operating committee on arrangements, classed Sunday's concert as one of the best in the high-class performances put on by the Marin Music Chest. "We want more of Traubel" seemed to be the consensus of opinion of the vast throng which crowded the park.

Scheduled for future appearances are Claudio Arrau, Latin-American pianist, on August 5. On Sunday evening, September 2, will be the San Francisco Ballet, under the directorship of Willam Christensen, accompanied by members of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The Christian Science Lesson-Sermon subject for July 22 is "Life." Golden Text, Luke 20:37,38: "Now that the dead are raised, even Moses shewed at the bush, when he calleth the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him."

One of the Bible verses in the sermon is: "Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy" (I Tim. 6:17). A correlative citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy reads: "The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter—certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God" (p. 324).

Record Dance Coming Soon

A dance to recorded music will be given in Marin City's Community House on Sunday, July 29, from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. This is a monthly social occasion sponsored by the Marin City Recreation Committee to which all families are invited.

The lounge will be open so dancers may take time out for leisurely visiting, smoking, and card games.

There will be a small fee charged, to swell the fund providing recreation to the city's youngsters.

Rights and Privileges Of G.I. Joe

By J. C. Bordanaro,
Veterans Service Officer, Bank of San Rafael.

Many questions will undoubtedly arise as to the application of the provisions governing veterans' guaranteed loans in individual cases. Of considerable benefit, therefore, is the following series of "Questions and Answers" released by the Veterans' Administration:

Question—Are the terms of the loan and time of repayment set?

Answer—The only statutory requirement of this nature is that the loan be repaid within 20 years. All other terms are arranged between the veteran and the lender, but must conform with the law and the regulations.

Question—Must property used to secure a loan be covered by insurance?

Answer—It is customary for lenders to require insurance on buildings against which loans are made in order to protect themselves against loss of security. This also protects the veteran since it may provide funds to replace the loss.

Buildings used as security for loans which carry the guaranty of the Veterans' Administration must be insured against fire and other hazards against which it is customary to insure in the community.

Question—If a loan is against a farm property must the veteran live on the farm?

Answer—No. But the law requires that he operate the property. He must, therefore, live near enough actually to supervise the farming.

Question—Is there a limit on the size of a farm against which a loan can be guaranteed?

Answer—No. Since a farm loan is, to some extent, against anticipated operations, the property would normally have to be large enough to produce a profit.

Question—May the proceeds of a loan be used to buy farming equipment?

Answer—Yes. Question—May funds from a guaranteed loan be used to pay operating expenses on a farm?

Answer—No. The act specifies the uses to which funds may be put under a guaranty of loan, and working funds are not included.

Question—Can a guaranty of loan be secured for the purchase of business property?

Answer—Yes.

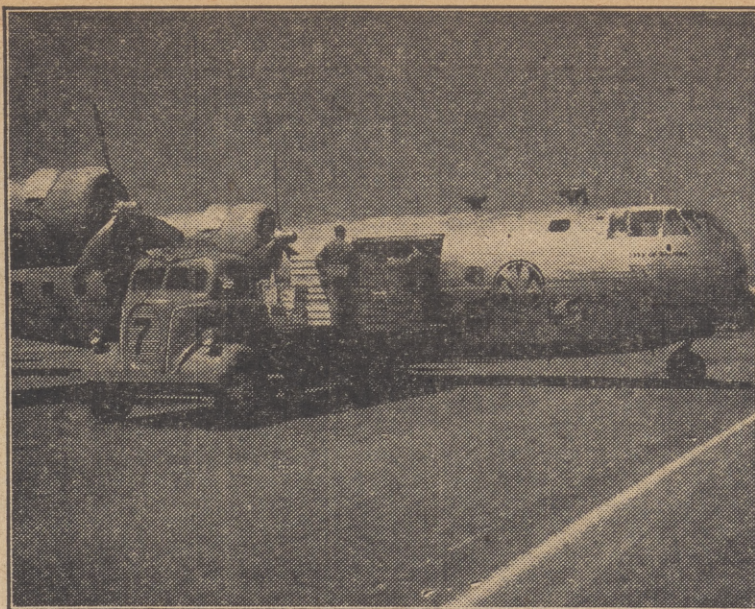

OPA Clarifies Eviction Law For Buyers

Returning veterans or other individuals who buy a home occupied by a tenant, and who expect to move in within 90 days, were advised by the Office of Price Administration today that in order to secure possession of the premises the new owner must first receive from the OPA a "certificate relating to eviction".

In many recent cases, Henry A. Cross, district rent executive of the OPA, said today, tenants have been given 90-day notices by new owners who, however, had failed to secure the required certificate from the OPA.

"Such new owners," said Cross, "then have learned that they should have filed with the OPA their petition for a certificate relating to eviction. The 90-day period only begins to run after such filing with the rent office of the OPA."

"It is therefore necessary," Cross continued, "that every new owner of premises who intends to dispossess the tenant and himself occupy the premises should file his petition immediately on assuming ownership."

The biggest air shipment of California's freshest fruits and vegetables ever sent East went to Cleveland this week via American Airlines in the new giant C-39 airfreighter. Arriving in 12 hours, Cleveland housewives had them on their tables immediately.

Tax Returns For Second Quarter Due

Social Security and Withholding Tax Returns for the second quarter period of 1945 must be filed by July 31, by approximately 375,000 employers of the First California District. James G. Smyth, Collector of Internal Revenue, said today in San Francisco.

The Collector also pointed out that special taxes, such as, the tax on retail and wholesale liquor dealers, brewers, operators of pin-ball machines, bowling alleys, pool and billiard tables and oleomargarine are due and must be reported by July 31.

Capital Stock Tax Returns are due from corporations by this date, Smyth said.

Nazi's Empty Gun Spares Soldier's Life

Pfc. Harold A. Keelen Jr., brother of Anna Keelen, project services assistant in Marin City, arrived home in Marin County this week after 15 months service with the U. S. Army in England, France, Belgium, and Germany.

The 23-year-old Army private served in a communications division with the Third, First, and Seventh Armies during the invasion.

He will be home for a 30-day furlough, before being sent to a U. S. camp for re-training and joining the Allied forces in the Pacific.

Pfc. Keelen had what was probably one of the closest escapes in the war. While guarding a door of a building in a captured German town, Keelen was suddenly poked in the back with a gun and turned around to see a German soldier at his elbow. Without waste of time the Nazi pulled the trigger, but the only result was a slight click. From then on, the fight belonged to Keelen, who quickly overpowered his aggressor.

A marriage license was issued this week to Hiram Mims, 21, of Marin City and Katie Mae Hurd, 20, of San Francisco.

By VIRGINIA VALE

IT DIDN'T take Myrna Loy long to decide what she'd do as a free-lance star after she left Metro. Practically everybody wanted her for a picture, but she chose the feminine starring role in "Genius in the Family." The story's laid in 1870, and is all about the courting days of Hiram Stevens Maxim, who invented the machine gun, among other things. And who do you suppose plays Hiram? None other than Don Ameche. But he doesn't invent a thing during the picture, just plays a charming and resourceful suitor.

When the Kate Smith program returns to the air early in September, it will be broadcast Fridays at 8:30 p.m. EWT, on CBS, instead of Sundays, and will be on the air 25 minutes instead of a full hour. And there'll be more songs by Kate.

Cornel Wilde, expert fencer, who plays the swashbuckling Aladdin in Columbia's "A Thousand and One Nights," will be built up as the successor to the late Douglas Fairbanks in roles of that type. He's the first to get that build-up since Fairbanks died.

Remember all those models who were taken to Hollywood, with much fanfare, for "Cover Girl"? Dusty Anderson, the only one of the 15 to be given a studio contract, gets her first lead playing opposite Warner Baxter in "The Paper Doll Murders."

John Reilly, the engineer of the air show, "It Pays to Be Ignorant," works nights, and sleeps late mornings. At least, he did until his three-year-old daughter heard little Johnny the call boy on the Ginny Simms show. Now she gets up at the crack of dawn and goes around the house imitating Johnny's clarion call advertising the sponsor's cigarettes at the top of her lungs.

Marie McDonald will play her first piano solo before a huge audience—all the people who go to see "Getting Gertie's Garter." Producer Edward Small heard that Marie had been studying piano with Ray Sinatra, cousin of Frank, who's one of Hollywood's best known pianists and arrangers. Small didn't know she'd learned little more than the scales, so he had her written in for a piano solo.

The new Fred Waring show, heard Mondays through Fridays over NBC, is a novelty in more ways than merely changing the usual network type of morning programs. Waring has made his program a showcase for returning veterans who want to make show business their post-war careers. The veterans apply for an NBC "Welcome Home Audition", provided by the network especially for servicemen; Waring scans the results and picks the most promising.

When Roy Acuff and the Smoky Mountain Boys and Girls of "Grand Old Opry" fame were being flown in a C-47 to a huge war bond rally in Tennessee, members of the plane's crew regretted that they'd miss the show, as they had to return. So Roy and his band got out their instruments, and while flying 200 miles an hour at 5,000 feet, gave their complete performance for the crew.

Kay Kyser wrote President Truman asking for a list of the chief executive's tunes, and was informed that they're "Pack Up Your Troubles," "Over There," the "Toreador Song" from "Carmen," and "Song Without Words." Kay will present them in new arrangements on his air show.

ODDS AND ENDS—Ellery Queen show guest armchair detectives who have only a mild interest in murder-mystery fiction are usually the most successful in guessing the correct solution. . . . Barbara Jo Allen, the "Vera Vague" of radio fame, has a featured role in Columbia's "Snafu" . . . Micky Kuhn, 11, who plays Rhett Butler's son in "Gone With the Wind," has been signed to play Dick Tracy Jr. in RKO's series of films based on the popular comic strip . . . Monogram's "Dillinger" is breaking records, and inspiring other studios to go in for similar films.

Pheasants Go To Nimitz on Island of Guam

A complete report has been made to Emil J. N. Ott, Jr., executive secretary of the California State Division of Fish and Game, on the success of the shipment by air of 10-week-old pheasants to Admiral Chester W. Nimitz for planting on the island of Guam.

Of the 60 birds shipped, 55 reached their destination in excellent condition. Lt. Comdr. John N. Ball writes of the trip as follows:

"No feeding was done enroute but the birds were watered in the Hawaiian Islands and again upon arrival at Guam.

"Admiral Nimitz was delighted to get the pheasants and personally supervised the liberation of one group. The island commander, Marine Major General Larson, was equally well pleased with the birds and personally supervised the liberation of the second group.

"The birds were in the crates a total of 57 hours, of which 31 hours were airborne. Flight altitudes reached 8500 feet, and outside air temperature enroute reached a minimum of 52 degrees Fahrenheit. Total distance traveled exceeded 6200 statute miles."

To our knowledge, this is the first time pheasants have traveled such a distance by air and been planted under such conditions, according to Executive Secretary Ott. It may be that we have started something new in game bird distribution.

Manufacture of Sporting Arms is Possibility

According to reports coming from Winchester Arms Co., their contract for manufacturing repeating arms for the government is now fulfilled and enough Garand automatics are estimated to be on hand to pepper the Japs into unconditional surrender.

As a result of this, it is anticipated that sporting arms will possibly become available to the public towards the end of this year or the early part of next.

True Stories from The 'Big Fish' Recordings

In the "Big Fish" department, laurels go to one Hans Hinrichs of New York for landing a 515-pound broadbill swordfish recently, thereby establishing a U. S. Atlantic Ocean record for this specie of fish.

After getting the strike, two miles out in the ocean, it took Hans three hours and forty minutes of hard battling before landing the monster measuring 10 feet 8½ inches in length and 4 feet 9 inches in girth.

The previous record was established in 1935 with a 505-pounder.

Then there is the 125-pound turtle recently captured in Hickman county, Kentucky. This hunk of turtle could walk away with a 250-pound man standing on its back and, to show disdain for his captors, bite through a one-inch board. A local sports man's club put him on display and raised $55 from admission fees. This fellow REALLY had a shell to crawl into.

And then for the big one that got away, "Minnie the Musky" takes the marbles.

When Minnie was five years old the New York State Department of Conservation netted her and slipped a tag on her fin along with some 1,950 other muskies for spawn stripping purposes. That was 15 years ago come this season, and Minnie has been through the same procedure on several occasions in the meantime.

When netted this year Minnie measured 49¼ inches long—just 6¾ inches less than the world's record rod and reel muskie.

Age probably hasn't added any to Minnie beauty, but it certainly appears to have made her wise.

Gov. Warren Signs Bill Protecting Trout in Winter

When Governor Earl Warren signed the Carter Bill recently, machinery was put in motion to limit the catch of trout during winter months.

General season is from May 1 to the last day of February, and the months covered by the restrictions is from November 1 to the closing of the season. Surrounding districts affected are as follows:

In districts 1½, 1½ and 5 and in the Klamath and Trinity Rivers, excluding tributaries, the bag limit in the winter season is five a day irrespective of size. The season for tributary streams is shorter—May to December 31.

In the Russian, Napa and Navarro Rivers and the portions of the Eel River in districts 2, 2½ and 2¾, and in tidewater in districts 2, 3 and 4 in the Santa Ynez River as far as the Buellton Bridge the winter bag limit is three.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force ceased to exist at 12:01 a.m. on July 14, and at that moment the greatest military organization of all time passed into history.

British and French forces which served under General Eisenhower now revert to control of their own nations. General "Ike" takes over his new assignment as military governor of the American zone of occupation in Germany.

In some respects the new job will be harder than that of directing the whole invasion of the Continent and the 11-month campaign that brought the downfall of Hitler. The task of conquering Germany through military means was one thing, but the problem of conquering the poisonous effects of Hitler's propaganda is quite another. Yet this must be accomplished to a fair degree, at least, if Germany is ever to regain a place in the family of nations, for already reports have come through of the murder of American soldiers by fanatical Nazis since the occupation program went into effect.

We can rest assured that General Eisenhower will do a workmanlike job in the area under his control, for he has already proven that he is a diplomat as well as a soldier.

In the meantime we hear now and then, from pacifists, that Japan should be considered, in an effort to establish an "honorable peace." This propaganda does not emanate, however, from those who remember Pearl Harbor, nor those fathers and mothers whose sons were in the "march of death" on Bataan.

The chances are that the Japanese will disclaim all allegiance to the Nippon war machine, just as the Germans are now avowing they never believed in Hitler.

A few artificial tears can't wash away a decade of murder, rape and plunder. Only a sober realization that the criminal must pay for his crime will ever guarantee peace in the world.

There seem to be several candidates in the Pacific Theater of War who can ably take over the job as military governor of the land of the "Rising Sun" and see to it that the treacherous yellow brothers are placed in the same category as Germany's war criminals.

Still Popular

The New York strike which prevented distribution of newspapers has underscored the importance of the newspaper in American life. The fact that thousands of persons daily lined up at the publishing offices to buy papers shows that public interest in newspapers, or rather, in the news and articles they disseminate, is just as keen as ever.

Some years ago when radio was first coming to the fore there were predictions and fears that in a short time the radio would displace the daily and weekly press as the principal means of providing news for the public. Radio has grown and flourished. It supplies a certain amount of news.
But the fact has long since been demonstrated that the radio supplements, but is never likely to supplant, the printed word.

Nor is there any reason to believe that television will ever displace the newspaper. The American people have become very much attached to their daily and weekly diet of news, editorials, ads, and other items that help make a newspaper interesting, informative and useful.

A Printer's Request

Written by John H. Curtin, printer-humorist, of Sacramento, on his 50th birthday anniversary, May 5, 1945

When I shall die, without much fame . . . or shame, just plant a tree and, near it, plant my frame; for folks will come to rest there in the shade, and they will still amuse me — I'm afraid.

Let none feel sorry—save your tawdry tears. I'll have the kind of rest I've missed for years. I'll just stretch out and yawn and wait and see . . . how well the world gets on without me.

There may be time enough to comprehend the love of "enemy" and hate of "friend." There may be time to learn the reasons why no goods have worth that goodness will not buy.

But, if there isn't, then these thoughts will pass, while
I remain to fertilize the grass.

There is need for realization of the existing fact of the universal brotherhood of man.—Dr. T. Z. Koo.

Polish Government in London Not Representative of People

We mentioned the fact last week that we had probably labored the question of Franco Spain almost to the point of boredom. That may apply equally to the questions turning on the right of those Poles in London to hold themselves out to the world as the legitimate representatives of the long-suffering people of Poland. Here we have taken a firm position as opposed to "governments in exile" in general, and the Polish group in particular. We have claimed that the Poles who took all the money in the Polish treasury, and some very useful airplanes, and flew to the Ritz and the Carleton in London town, and then sent back message after message asking the Polish people to "fight and fight and fight, and after you win we will bring back what is left of your money and what is left of the planes and govern you again," or words to that direct effect—that these people represented no one but themselves and a handful of powerful interests who have mismanaged Polish affairs for years and who do not, and never have, had a legitimate mandate from the Polish people.

But, one might ask, did not the governments of Great Britain and the United States recognize the Polish government in exile? The answer is, yes, and the answer also is that they were wrong in doing so. And the proof is that the Polish group of Latifundists in London are now stranded politically without recognition from any government of importance in the world.

Now it is a complete oversimplification to dismiss this subject by some mere cliché, such as that all this historically important development, was because Russia held out. It is much deeper than that. Recognition was withdrawn from the London Poles because it became apparent that the re-installation of the London group would become a threat to world peace and it was cheaper to recognize that fact at this time than it was to wait until the next war started and settle it by the use of the United Nations police force.

For it must be now known that the thing that held London Poles together and inspired their every recent act, was a deep and abiding hatred of Russia.
The London Poles are the owning group of the lands and of the industry of Poland and they fear more than they fear death what Owen Lattimore in his remarkable book, "Solution in Asia," referred to as the "politics of attraction". The London Poles cannot stand the idea of the people owning cooperative farms and of the natural resources of the country being owned and operated for the benefit of all the people, and they realize that the example of the people next door would be such as to threaten their interests and weaken their holds.

They carried this so far that they even said to Chamberlain that they would be willing to accept Russian aid and in case Hitler attacked them, provided (and this is some proviso), that no Russian foot was allowed on Polish ground. It was like saying that one wanted the help of the fire department, but under no circumstances should the firemen come inside the property lines.

With the exception of the "yellow journals" the world seems to understand now that the Russians have no ambitions toward a Sovietized Poland. It seems to be accepted that the Russians are asking that the Polish government as such, will insure that never again will Poland become the springboard for an attack on Russia. Would we ask, no; would we demand less from Mexico, if the situations were similar? Suppose that some country as powerful as Germany lay to the south of Mexico, and within very recent history that country had used Mexico as a military base for assault. Can there be any doubt that, if the government hesitated, the people of the United States would rise in their wrath and demand that the situation be corrected once and for all.

One way to find out a good deal about foreign affairs is to find out just where Mr. Hearst stands and then make an open-minded study of the other side of the question.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors turned down a refinance an enlarged police force

made by Judge Guy A. Ciocca and Sheriff Walter Sellmer who asked for money to hire three more deputies.

Because of limitation of staff,
the Marin County Defense Recreation Committee withdrew supervision of Teener Club

the community.
